

Onancock Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Onancock, Va., May 27.—Mrs. Bettie W. Custer is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Nannie Wise Craft, of Norfolk. Mrs. Nannie Wise Craft, of Norfolk, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Bettie W. Custer, of Onancock. Mrs. Bettie W. Custer is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Nannie Wise Craft, of Norfolk. Mrs. Nannie Wise Craft, of Norfolk, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Bettie W. Custer, of Onancock.

Mrs. Catherine Bird is home from a two months' visit to her nieces, the Misses Bishop, of Snow Hill, Md. Miss Dorothy Bishop accompanied her home, and is the guest of Mrs. Otto L. Parker.

Mrs. C. B. Cook, recently the guest of Miss Hattie Kelly, left for Buffalo, N. Y., Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. West and Miss Hattie Stewart, spent Saturday and Sunday on Tangier Island.

Mrs. Frederick W. Dodge and two children, of Salisbury, Md., are at the home of Mrs. L. Thomas Le Cato for two weeks.

Henry Fitzgerald, of Hallwood, was in town this week.

Miss Kate Bratten, who taught at Princess Anne Court house, the past session, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bratten.

Jefferson Medical College, is spending his vacation with his parents, Mayor and Mrs. L. H. Doughty.

Mrs. Lillian Taylor, of Philadelphia, is the guest of Mrs. E. A. Merrick.

Miss Elsie Stewart is home from Harpers Ferry, where she taught the past session.

Mrs. Walter Rhodes and two children, Master Wilcox and Miss Florence, are with relatives in Westmoreland county.

Bishop Randolph preached to a large congregation in the Episcopal church Monday and confirmed a class of three.

Marion Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Marion, Va., May 27.—Last Sunday night Wilson, of Scott, and Miss Lillie Stephenson, both of this place, were married by Rev. J. E. Peckin, of Rockbridge county, where here this week.

Mrs. J. D. Barnes, of Rice Valley, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Peckin, in Rockbridge county.

Among the country people in town Monday were Harry and Miss Maggie Buchanan, Rush Gwyn, J. D. Barnes and son, Taylor, of Rich Valley, and James D. Tate, of Albemarle.

Dr. and Mrs. S. Pendleton, of Richmond, are visiting at J. R. Venable's, and renewing acquaintances of former years.

Miss Mary Miles is visiting friends in Roanoke.

Cards are out announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Pearl Shannon, of Salisbury, to Thomas G. Lee. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 P. M. June 7, at the Methodist church, at Salem.

Miss Mary Miles is visiting friends in Roanoke.

James John W. Price and H. T. Campbell and S. T. Copenhaver, of Bristol, attended court last Monday.

Captain Thomas L. Tate, of Pulaski, stopped here Wednesday on his return from presbytery, and spent the night with friends.

Miss Natalie Ballou, is the guest of Rev. J. E. Peckin, of Rockbridge county.

Attorneys E. Cooper Shapley and J. Claude Bedford, of Philadelphia, and C. B. Thomas, of Wytheville, were here Thursday.

Miss Denton McKee, a recent graduate of the Intermediate College, of Bristol, passed through Marion Thursday, returning to her home at Fairwood.

Miss Louise Sanders, teacher, and Misses Corby and Virginia Buchanan, of Pulaski, spent last week here on his way from Denver, Col., to Roanoke.

The Woodmen of the World will have a big log-rolling, at Masonic Temple, East Radford, Thursday next.

Mrs. H. C. Scott and daughter, Miss Nora, and son, Howard, returned Monday from Richmond, and Ashland, where they spent the winter, to their home near Radford.

Miss Clara Powell, of Birmingham, Ala., and Miss Lena Fisher, of Roanoke, are visiting Misses Lena and Irene Martin.

Miss Irene Martin visited Roanoke last week.

Mrs. C. Hall went to Richmond to be present at the graduation of her son, Irwin, at the University College.

Miss Marjorie Dana has returned from Bowling Green Academy, where she spent several days this week.

J. A. Potts, of New Kent; E. S. Miles, and Paul Driscoll, of Toano, and H. D. Cole, of Petersburg, and W. C. Johnston spent Thursday in York and Warwick counties, on an automobile trip.

H. G. Spencer has returned from Staunton, where he went to see Mrs. Spencer, who is spending some time there for the benefit of her health.

Professor J. H. Brown, principal of the Barton Heights High school, was a visitor here the first of the week.

J. W. Reams, of Richmond, has been the guest of E. F. Wolfe.

Miss Marjorie Dana has returned from Bowling Green Academy, where she spent several days this week.

A Shoe for Gentlemen
THE
Steadfast
SHOE
HAND LASTED, SILK FITTED
Prices $5.00, $6.00 and Up
"IT'S THE SHOE THAT MAKES THE BRAND WORTH CALLING FOR"

Bench made methods and hand workmanship make the Steadfast shoe look like the made-to-order kind. Those who are "informed" on stylish and fashionable footwear for gentlemen will tell you that the Steadfast creations are up-to-date and may be accepted as correct in every detail just the same as if each pair was made to order at a cost of $10.00 to $15.00.

You are invited to inspect them. The newest patterns and most fashionable footwear for gentlemen. Carried in patent and dull leathers, tans, etc., by

WILTSHIRE'S
1009 E. Main St.

she has been attending college the past session.

Miss Smith has gone West to remain till fall.

Mrs. B. F. Wolfe spent the week with her daughter, Mrs. B. S. Joyner, at the latter's cottage at Ocean View.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

Miss Lillian White, of Cape Charles, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. White, at Toano.

Miss Emily Vaddell, of Henrico, has been the guest of Mrs. J. G. Carlton, at Toano.

ence. Donnan Gray, Landrum Hardy, Robert Fowlkes, Will Lee, Irving Owen and John East, acted as marshals.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Corbin, of Chatham, have arrived and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ingram, Sr., for several weeks.

Mrs. C. A. Nesbitt, of this place, has returned from a pleasant visit to Richmond.

Professor O. M. Clarke, who has been teaching school in Cape Charles, for the past session, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Carrie V. Clarke, at this place.

Mrs. John D. Watkins, of this place, left a few days ago for Keyville, where she will spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Tuggle.

Mrs. Edwards, of Keyville, visited her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Thomas, in South Boston, during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Flen Norman and children, of High Point, N. C., are visiting relatives in town.

Brack Stovall, of Lynchburg, spent several days in South Boston, this week.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

It has just leaked out that a secret marriage of interest here took place in Durham, N. C., nearly fourteen months ago. It was on the third day of April, 1910, that Miss Edith B. Sheard, a popular and attractive young woman of South Boston, and Edward E. Turner, of Hillsboro, N. C., were quietly married by R. A. Harris, a justice of the peace, in Durham, N. C., the marriage taking place at the home of a friend. After the ceremony the bride returned to this place, and the groom to his home, and although he has made a number of visits to his bride here, still the marriage has been kept a profound secret until to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have decided that the God of love and happiness can reign much more successfully in the quiet of the little town of Burlington, than being separated, so the happy bride left this week for that place to join her husband.

UNPARALLELED SUCCESS ## OF THE GREAT

DIRECT ACTION GAS RANGE

The "DIRECT ACTION" derives its name from the manner in which the heat from oven-burners is utilized. There are no oven walls or deflecting plates to retard the QUICK ACTION of the heat, as in all other gas ranges advertised as the "best." The saving in gas by using the "DIRECT ACTION" is from a third to a half more than is possible with any other gas range made. This has been successfully demonstrated to thousands of Richmond's best housekeepers for the past eleven years. The "DIRECT ACTION" is the BEST, SAFEST and MOST ECONOMICAL Gas Range in the world. That's why

We Sell More Gas Ranges Than Any Other Store

Kitchen Cabinet

is a Step Saver

It's made to last a lifetime.

It's solid oak. Won't warp in the heat of the kitchen. It's the best Cabinet made—that's why we have discarded all other makes, and the best part about it is it doesn't cost any more than ordinary cabinets. Summer sale begins Monday.

It's solid oak. Won't warp in the heat of the kitchen. It's the best Cabinet made—that's why we have discarded all other makes, and the best part about it is it doesn't cost any more than ordinary cabinets. Summer sale begins Monday.

It's solid oak. Won't warp in the heat of the kitchen. It's the best Cabinet made—that's why we have discarded all other makes, and the best part about it is it doesn't cost any more than ordinary cabinets. Summer sale begins Monday.

It's solid oak. Won't warp in the heat of the kitchen